Providence College Schneider Arena Renovations and Addition Project

Project Highlights:

The Providence College Schneider Arena Renovations and Addition project was comprised of renovations and improvements to the existing 64,000 square foot hockey arena and a three-story addition of approximately 30,430 square foot. The overall goal of the project was to update the building to attract new recruits for the hockey program, as well as offer a state-of-the-art hockey venue for the people of the surrounding area to use. The design team at S/M/M/A Architects used many flooring products to achieve the overall design in the building. One of the main goals, was accomplished by providing a space which all hockey members can come to the rink, and use the place for training, exercising, and practice. Vendor partners were important to the overall design with contributions from Armstrong, Ardex, Burke, Mapei, Dal Tile, Johnsonite and Roppe.

The unique installation challenge for this project was the overall time-frame for the work to be completed. The new addition was started in early November 2012. The existing 64000 sf was not accessible to the construction crew until after the hockey season was over in April of 2013. The entire project was completed within eight months of starting construction. The Ruggieri Team's craftsmanship and detail were an important part of the success of the project and completing it under tough construction conditions with a multitude of other tradesmen in the working space at the same time. In the eight weeks the Ruggieri Team was on the job, they completed over 10,000 square feet of ceramic tile, 15,000 square feet of rubber flooring, 2200 yards of carpeting, and lots of self-leveling to repair existing sub-floor conditions. Critical project management and constant communication in the field resulted in a great unique installation challenge.

This is a 2014 Starnet Worldwide Commercial Flooring Design Award entry.
